

The University of Nottingham

keeping children
SAFE AT HOME

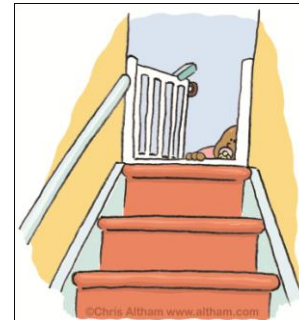

We need YOUR help to stop accidents.

Every year in the UK a quarter of a million children under 5 years go to an Emergency Department because they are hurt in an accident at home.

You may be sent some information about this study even if your child hasn't had an accident

Researchers from the Norfolk and Norwich University Hospital are asking lots of parents to tell them what they do to keep their children safe from accidents so they can find out how well these things work.

Please think about taking part. If you do you will be asked to fill in a questionnaire. This will take about 20 minutes of your time

If you take part, you may help stop other children having accidents in the future.

